Pt 1, Line 1a First class travel - The Chairman of the Board of Directors and spouse are the only people authorized for first class travel.
The Chairman of the American Gas Association serves on a voluntary basis and contributes a significant amount of time traveling in carrying out those duties. It is therefore appropriate during the Chairman's tenure that the Association reimburse the Chairman and/or the Chairman's company for expenses incurred in the conduct of the Chairman's duties and in accordance with AGA's travel policy.

Travel for Companions - The Association recognizes that there will be occasions when it is appropriate for a spouse to travel on behalf of the Association. In these cases approval for the travel must be received in advance. AGA considers expenses of a traveling spouse to be taxable income to the employee. Expenses are added to the employee's W-2 wages in accordance with the law and appropriate taxes are withheld.

Form 990, Pt. III, Line 1 Organization's Mission

Approved by the AGA Board on 9/15/09.

The American Gas Association represents companies delivering natural gas to customers to help meet their energy needs. AGA members are committed to delivering natural gas safely, reliably, cost-effectively and in an environmentally responsible way. AGA advocates the interests of its members and their customers, and provides information and services promoting efficient demand and supply growth, and operational excellence, in the safe, reliable and efficient delivery of natural gas.

To further this mission, AGA:

Focuses on the advocacy of natural gas issues that are priorities for the membership and that are achievable in a cost effective way.

Promotes growth in the efficient use of natural gas on behalf of natural gas utilities, and the customers the industry serves, by emphasizing before a variety of audiences the attributes of natural gas as a clean, abundant, efficient and secure energy source that is recognized as part of the solution to the nation's environmental and energy efficiency goals.

Encourages, facilitates, and assists members in sharing information designed to achieve operational excellence by improving their safety, security, reliability, efficiency, and environmental and other performance metrics;

Assists members in managing and responding to customer energy needs, regulatory trends, natural gas markets, capital markets and emerging technologies; facilitates the identification of, and advocates for, regulatory constructs and business models that provide members the opportunity to remain financially viable, while allowing them to grow.

Collects, analyzes and disseminates information on a timely basis to opinion leaders, policy makers and the public about the benefits provided by energy utilities and the natural gas industry.

Encourages the identification, development, commercialization, demonstration and regulatory acceptance of end-use technologies that will allow natural gas applications to successfully compete in the market place.

Delivers measurable value to AGA members.

AGA has in place a Public Affairs program to monitor federal legislative activities and to discuss with members of Congress and their staff the views of AGA members on these activities. AGA's government relations efforts play a key role in protecting the interests of the natural gas utility and its customers from proposed legislation that inadvertently or otherwise could have serious impacts on gas supply, the cost of gas service, reliability and/or safety.

- Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP): AGA's ongoing effort with Congress to obtain funding for the federal Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program resulted in final FY 2011 appropriations of $4.5 billion. This program is essential in reducing the financial burden of those on low and fixed incomes as they provide themselves with needed basic energy services. AGA coordinated and hosted a LIHEAP Action Day in Washington, DC. LIHEAP advocates and recipients attended more than 100 meetings with members of Congress and their staff during this event.

- Natural Gas Supply: AGA's advocacy efforts in 2010 helped ensure that members of Congress and their staff understand that the U.S. natural gas supply outlook has improved, especially with the growth of shale gas production. The development of shale gas has resulted in significant job creation. Consumers have also benefitted from the growth of shale gas production through a lower and more stable price environment compared to years past. AGA's outreach efforts focus on how advanced technologies can provide environmentally sound access to America's natural gas resource base. As a result of these efforts, no anti-natural gas legislation passed Congress in 2010.

- Bonus Depreciation: AGA's advocacy efforts before Congress came to fruition in 2010 when President Obama signed into law the Small Business Jobs and Credit Act, which includes an extension of the 50 percent bonus depreciation deduction for 2010. The resulting savings are available to be used for capital investment and infrastructure development.

- Dividend Tax Rates: in 2010, Congress voted for and President Obama signed legislation that extended for two years the lower 15 percent tax rates on dividends, a goal AGA worked hard to achieve. This helped provide welcome confidence for investors in AGA member companies, many of whom are retirees on fixed incomes, who rely on stable, predictable dividend returns.

- Over-the-Counter (OTC) Derivatives: In 2010, the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act was signed into law. As part of an energy coalition, AGA secured an exclusion from the requirement to clear transactions on an exchange or clearinghouse for bona fide commercial end users of OTC derivatives who hedge against price volatility. For mid-size utilities this eliminates the requirement to post tens of millions of dollars in additional margin requirements to hedge their portfolio.

- Greenhouse Gas: In 2010, EPA issued a rule to raise the threshold for requiring new source review permits for sources of greenhouse gas emissions. As AGA requested, EPA raised the threshold to exclude all residential and commercial customers and virtually all gas utility facilities, an outcome favorable to gas utilities and their customers.

Safety continues to be our industry's highest priority. AGA works closely with Congress, state legislatures, and state and federal regulators to ensure that all pipeline safety provisions are pragmatic, practical and cost effective. In 2010, AGA advocated for reasonable pipeline safety legislation. AGA also advocated for implementation of excavation damage prevention requirements contained in the current pipeline safety act. AGA ensured a reasonable approach to several operating-related rulemakings and initiatives, including pipeline control room management, operator qualifications rule modifications, public awareness communications, safety performance metrics data gathering and distribution and transmission integrity management programs.

Form 990, Pt. III, Line 4B Oper. & Eng. (Expenses $4,731,607)

The Operations and Engineering Section includes 13 technical committees whose work is overseen by a Managing Committee. These committees focus on everything that can help natural gas utilities achieve operational excellence in the safe, reliable and efficient delivery of natural gas. Nearly 900 member company employees served on committees in 2010.

The thirteen technical committees are: 1.) Corrosion Control Committee; 2) Distribution Construction and Maintenance Committee; 3) Distribution Measurement Committee; 4) Distribution & Transmission Engineering Committee; 5) Environmental Matters Committee; 6) Gas Control Committee; 7) Natural Security Committee; 8) Plastic Materials Committee; 9) Safety and Occupational Health Committee; 10) Supplemental Gas Committee; 11) Transmission Measurement Committee 12) Underground Storage Committee; and 13) Utility and Customer Field Services Committee.

The Operations and Engineering Section facilitates the exchange of information among peers in other companies in order to better serve their customers. The 2010 information exchanges included:

 - Best Practices Program for Distribution, Transmission and Supplemental Gas: AGA's -----

Best Practices Program is an effort to identify procedures of superior performing gas industry companies and innovative work practices that can be used to improve participants' operations. It focuses on improving the safety and efficiency of gas distribution system construction, maintenance, operation and inspection and makes available information regarding a number of operational improvements. Our members have documented millions of dollars in savings from participation in these programs.
These savings translate to lower costs for the customer. The 2010 benchmarking topics for the distribution segment included main and service piping replacements, meter reading and managing turn-ons and turn-offs. The transmission segment covered pipeline interconnect facility profile. The Supplemental Gas segment focused on process safety and management of change. Ninety companies participated in the 2010 Distribution Best Practices Program.

 - Operations Safety: Hosted 2010 Executive Leadership Safety Summit with over 120 ----- members in attendance who participated in roundtable discussions on pipeline, contractor, customer, employee and vehicle safety; published 2009 employee safety statistics for the gas industry and identified industry leaders in employee/vehicular safety; modified the National Fuel Gas Code to address Chemical Safety Board recommendations; made presentations at the Operations Conference on employee safety culture, contractor management, odor fade, leak investigation procedures, and carbon monoxide issues.

 - The SOS Program: Allows individual members to send operationally related inquiries ----- to their peers in member companies to better understand how others are addressing a particular issue/challenge. In 2010, this program facilitated 85 member company requests for operations-related information on such issues as network design, control valves and load gathering.

- Operational Efficiency: Held the 2010 Operations Conference, which had over 800 attendees and the 2010 AGA/EEI Joint Security Conference. Held workshops on distribution integrity management, underground storage and shale gas. Conducted webinars and audioconferences on pipe wrap, gas odorization and spill prevention, control and countermeasures. Held successful fall technical committee meetings with over 500 attendees. This included a coordinated Plastic Materials Committee meeting held in conjunction with a Plastic Pipes Symposium. Completed white papers on "Natural Gas Pipelines and Unmarked Sewer Lines - A Damage Prevention Partnership", "Natural Gas Measurement Technical Training and Development Guidelines" and "Workplace Violence Prevention Management Guidelines".

- Regional operations executive meetings allowed senior operational executives to meet with peers in different geographic regions to discuss operationally related issues and share successful practices.

AGA's Policy, Planning and Regulatory Affairs Section work in 2010 affected: the dissemination of information and analysis of the economic and physical condition of the natural gas industry; the state and federal regulatory regimes under which natural gas utilities are directly regulated; and how natural gas utilities may increase the efficiency of their operations and the end use of natural gas in a clean energy economy.

The Section's Policy Analysis Group provided a vast array of data about all aspects of the natural gas industry and collected and compiled it in ready-reference form.

Among the 2010 publications were: GAS FACTS; Heating/Cooling Degree-Day Statistics; and the Natural Gas Market Indicators bi-weekly report.

AGA also undertook a wide range of analyses on environmental, financial, gas supply, gas demand, consumer cost, capital requirements, resource efficiency and other issues facing the gas industry. These analyses assisted the general public, members and other decision-makers in resolving the country's current energy problems and in establishing public policies that will be in the nation's best interest.

The Section's Regulatory Affairs Group includes two committees that address respective state and federal regulatory regimes under which most AGA members are regulated: the Rate Committee and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Regulatory Committee (FERC).

The Rate Committee has developed and maintains an annual rate fundamentals training course and textbook that is used by many member companies and regulatory agencies in their training programs. The Rate Committee also held rate seminars where participants learned of programs undertaken by other gas utilities, for example, in the areas of innovative rate design. It also developed and distributed regular publications on state regulatory proceedings and decisions and general rate design principals and innovations.

In 2010, AGA successfully represented the interests of its members with the FERC.

For example, AGA successfully urged FERC to revise its reporting requirements for certain pipelines to prevent the disclosure of customer specific information and to simplify reporting requirements. AGA also successfully advocated that FERC help utilities develop and obtain credit for effective compliance programs.

This section also worked to promote the role of natural gas and natural gas utilities in a clean energy economy. These efforts included: filed comments in response to DOE proposal to develop full fuel cycle metrics for the impact analyses of proposed efficiency standards; filed comments in response to DOE request for information addressing smart grid implementation; provided comments on DOE's proposed efficiency rules for water heaters that resulted in issuance of a final rule that sets an efficiency level allowing continued use of natural gas draft type storage water heaters compatible with standard venting systems; influenced the amending of proposed language on gas furnace standards to protect natural gas customers from unreasonable mandates in the replacement market and continued to seek support for increased R&D funding for efficient natural gas end-use technologies.

In addition, this section worked with the national associations representing persons who regulate natural gas utilities, the National Association of Regulatory Utility

Commissioners (NARUC). In 2010, AGA: presented a program on renewable gas to NARUC and participated in conference calls with NARUC regarding renewable gas; provided support for adoption and implementation of energy efficiency mechanisms and infrastructure investment recovery mechanisms; distributed materials on innovative rates and mechanisms and attended regional NAPSR meetings to discuss pipeline safety issues.

Coordinates recruitment and retention of current or potential AGA member companies, as well as; conducts outreach to the financial community to enhance their understanding of key issues affecting gas utilities and provides support services for AGA's committee meetings and conferences. For example, AGA offers a training program for member company board directors regarding energy policy issues that impact their companies.

General Counsel Programs (Expenses $1,039,938)

The Office of General Counsel assists member company attorneys in more effectively performing their duties, thereby, helping those companies operate more efficiently. For example, AGA offers litigation alerts, legal forums and workshops, antitrust compliance programs, assistance to members in potentially precedent setting litigation, as well as, analyses and legal summaries.

Industry Finance & Administrative Programs (Expenses $1,010,532)

The Financial and Administrative group develops and implements programs in the following areas: accounting, customer service, human resources, risk management and information technology. These programs help member companies operate more efficiently in today's competitive environment. For example, in the customer service area, AGA's Data Source is the utility industry's premier tool for benchmarking customer service programs. Subjects covered include: call centers, energy assistance programs, billing and meter reading. A powerful online search engine enables members to retrieve data efficiently, thereby increasing employee productivity. AGA sponsors accounting workshops and training programs on cutting edge issues facing our member companies. We also provide surveys on insurance coverage and compensation that are helpful in identifying trends and controlling costs.

Form 990, Pt. VI, Sec. A, Line 1A Voting Members of the Board

The Association's bylaws, under Article VII, Section 2 provides that the Board of Directors may appoint an Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is elected by the entire Board and may exercise certain powers of the Board during the intervals between meetings of the Board. The Executive Committee is generally comprised of the Association's Officers and not less than 7 other members of the Board.

Form 990, Pt. VI, Sec. A, Line 6 Members or Stockholders

The members of the Association make certain decisions, such as, the election of the principal governing body (Board of Directors) as outlined in the organization's bylaws at the annual or special meetings of the Association. Special meetings may be called by the membership to address any issues or questions.

Form 990, Pt. VI, Sec. B, Line 12C Conflict of Interest Process

The organization has new employees review and sign a statement of compliance with the conflict of interest policy at the time of hiring. All employees and Board members have a continuing duty to report any actual or potential conflict of interest in accordance with the policy and annually sign a statement of compliance.

New Board Members (NBM) attend a Board orientation session with the organization's Chairman, President, Chief Financial Officer, General Counsel and others where the Association's policies are reviewed. NBMs make a declaration of any potential conflict of interest. All Board members have a continuing duty to report any actual or potential conflict. The potential conflicts for Board members, officers, employees and others are reviewed by the Association's CEO, General Counsel, CFO and Human Resources Director and a schedule is prepared and furnished to the independent auditors and made available to the AGA Audit Committee. More detail is provided in the policy.

Form 990, Pt. VI, Sec. B, Line 15 Compensation Review Process

The Association uses a multifaceted approach to determining compensation for its CEO, officers and employees. This includes establishing written position descriptions, salary ranges for positions, setting position goals, providing written performance evaluations, measurement of performance, quarterly, semi-annual or annual goal review, and contemporaneous substantiations of the process. The Association's current compensation policy dated December 2002 describes the process in more detail. The Association also retains an independent compensation consulting firm to advise the Board Compensation Committee and officers. Compensation adjustments usually are recommended by supervisors and approved by managers, directors and/or officers. Adjustments must also be approved by the Human Resources Director. Officer's individual salary adjustments are recommended to the Board Compensation Committee by the CEO, must be approved by the Board Compensation committee after review, and reported to the Board of Directors. The CEO's compensation is first discussed by the Board Compensation Committee with an independent consulting firm specializing in non-profit organizations to determine the Board Compensation Committee's recommendation to the Board of Directors. The Chairman of the Board then presents the recommendations and reasons for the CEO compensation adjustment, if any, for a vote by the full Board. Contemporaneous substantiation of the deliberations, decisions and Board of Directors action is maintained in the Human Resources files and the minutes of the Compensation Committee.

Form 990, Part VI, Line 11b - Form 990 Review Process

The Association's internal process for review of tax forms is extensive. For the Form 990, the Association's Controller(also a CPA) drafts the form with input from the staff review group(SRG), composed of appropriate staff officers and accountants.

A draft 990 is then provided to the outside auditing firm, the CEO, the Chief Financial Officer(CFO), the General Counsel and others. The Controller then has responsibility to circulate the comments to the SRG and incorporate appropriate corrections into the 990. The final draft is then prepared for SRG approval and provided to the Audit Committee. The CFO reviews the 990 with the Audit Committee.

The Audit Committee Chairman reports on this review to the Board of Directors. The 990 is provided to the Board of Directors before it is filed.

The Association's governing bodies are active in a number of ways. The Association members elect a Board of Directors(BOD) from the the membership. Committees related to financial oversight, compensation and governance are established by the BOD.

These include the Executive Committee, Board Finance Committee, Board Audit Committee(CEOs and/or CPAs from member companies, some with public accounting backgrounds) and Board Compensation Committee(BOD Chair, Vice Chair,2nd Vice Chair, and other BOD members usually with leadership roles in the Association). The Audit Committee Chair is a member of the Board of Directors and provides regular reports of the Audit Committee to the Board of Directors.
